CPGC Club

Terms 241/242

Introduction

The club focuses on helping members invest their time wisely and seize opportunities by connecting with new people. Collaboration within the club can lead to great ideas. Additionally, being part of a club offers a welcome break from academic stress. It's not just about tasks and deadlines; it's about having fun with the team while developing various skills and building a network. While your academic achievements are important, it is equally crucial to enhance your resume by utilizing the social and soft skills you acquire.

Vision

As a CPG family, having a clear image of what needs to be accomplished is essential and anticipated. Not only is developing the members' skills and knowledge a part of the family vision, but also improving the environment of the club to ensure the members' comfort and supporting them to get out of the academic stress is fundamental. Moreover, in CPG family witnessing the members' successes and achievements is a major source of satisfaction and happiness for all the family since spreading ambition and fulfillment is what the club aspire to. Ultimately, For the family of CPG these three letters do not only refer to the club name (College of Petroleum Engineering & Geosciences), but they also refer to the club slogan, which can represent the club vision:

"In our family, we value ethics and passion for the organization's success more than experience. Here in CPG family, we embrace those who seek relationships, entertainment, development, and success. Rarity and individuality within the boundaries of religion and tradition raise and distinguish a person in such competitive university environment. I personally believe that these standards, based on connection and passion, are major reasons for the success of any organization, and our club is a prime example. Despite a lot of comments from some ignorant people, we work here as a family to achieve our goals. As always, through time we will move forward together."

- Ali Alsaeedi, President

"Joining the CPG club family offers students far more than just an opportunity to expand their network; it opens doors to unexplored realms of knowledge and experience. It widens their horizons, encouraging them to venture into areas they never imagined, and empowers them to unlock the vast potential within themselves, transforming both their personal and professional growth."

- Meshal Almulhim, Vice President

"I believe the CPG club family is an opportunity for students to learn, enhance their skills, and expand their networks through collaboration with other students to organize events, activities and creating content that benefits all students."

- Salman Alrasheed, Content Management Director

"The CPG Club family aims to profoundly impact students by offering powerful opportunities for growth and skill development. We organize events that enhance the student experience and cultivate a community where students can excel, connect, and achieve their best."

- Wasayf Altaha, Events Director

"Being part of the CPG Club family and an essential building block within it empowers you to grow both academically and personally, fostering a journey of continuous learning and development. Always remember, the CPG Club thrives because of you."

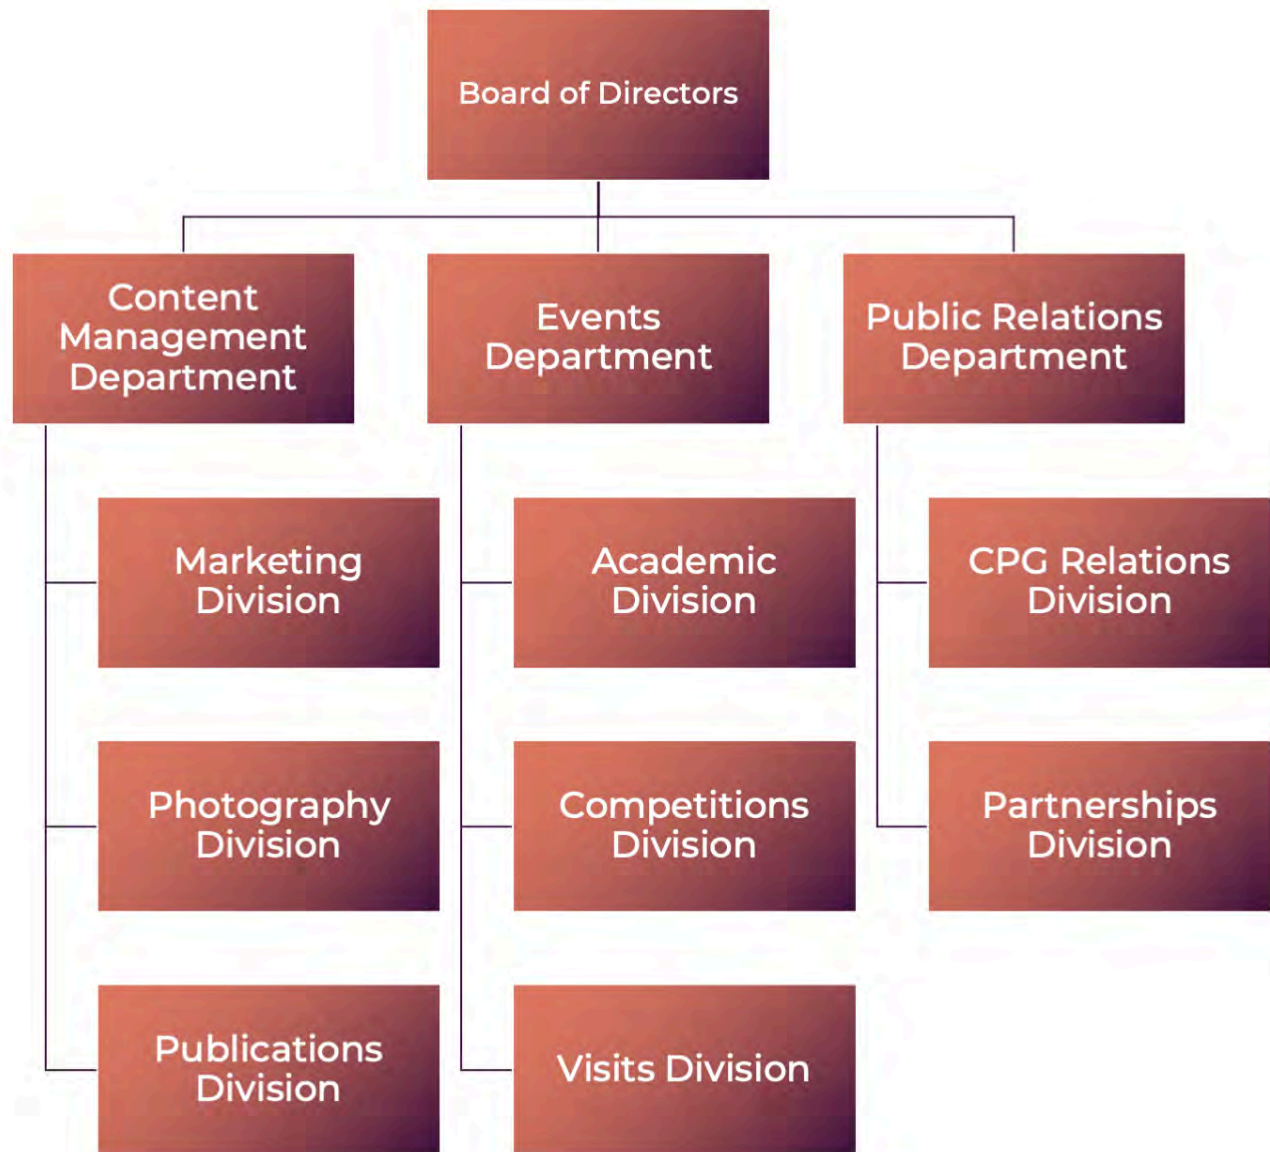

- Wathiq Theyab, Events Director

"CPG Club family supports and amplifies student voices through the podcast, as I believe this is a powerful tool for achieving that."

- Sara Alqarni, Public Relations Director

Departments Roles

Content Management Department

The Content Management Department is primarily responsible for creating, managing, and publishing media-related products. This includes but not limited to producing digital media content, providing media coverage of club events, marketing the club's announcements, and writing and publishing the club's periodical.

Events Department

The responsibilities of the Events Department include planning events, organizing and preparing logistics, managing and hosting guests and speakers, running the events, and performing post-event activities such as gathering feedback and writing the event report.

Public Relations Department

The public relations department is mainly responsible for communicating with the guests and visitors. This department also assists with preparing advertising and marketing campaigns. Additionally, public relations department is in charge of preparing both the hospitality and the staff for the visitors, especially for podcasting.

Student Experience

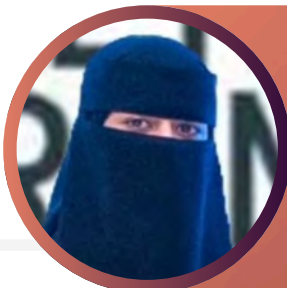

"As a former Head of Events for CPG Club, I developed strong organizational, communication, and stress management skills. Through this role, I discovered a passion for event planning and leadership, which contributed to my personal and professional growth and helped me become a confident leader. I encourage students to join clubs and activities to gain practical experience and develop essential skills"

- Abdulrahman Alhumaid, Recent Graduate

"As a former leader of the CPG Club's Publishing Team, I was asked to share my experience. Condensing years of memories into a few paragraphs was a challenge. One valuable lesson I learned is that those who talk the most often do the least. Effective communication means speaking when your words matter. If your ideas aren't valued, it's important to find a better audience. This hard-earned lesson has shaped my perspective"

- Anas Alsaleem, Recent Graduate

"I was a leader of the Media department. I aimed to develop myself and improve my college's publications. Despite the challenges of managing a new team and balancing multiple projects, I embraced these experiences. I strongly encourage university students to engage in extracurricular activities, as they not only foster personal growth but also help build meaningful relationships and develop new competencies.

- Alkawthar Alghazal, Sophomore Student

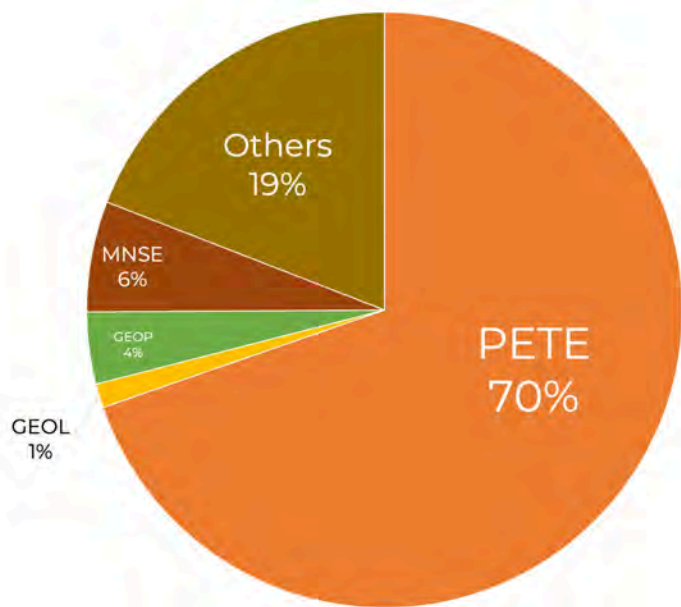

"When I visited the National Day event in 2023, I was captivated by the unity within the CPG club, even in its infancy, which inspired me to join. As a prep year student (Oria), with no experience and unable to tell buildings 76 and 78 apart, I was embraced by the club. Together with my team, I unearthed hidden talents and shouldered responsibilities I never imagined. Now, in just its second year, the club feels like a growing entity, drawing in members from both within and beyond the university. This is a journey I've cherished, and I believe the club's growth is only beginning."

- Seba Alqarni, Freshman Student

Frequently Asked Questions

How can students get involved in the club?

The CPG club application involves an online form. After submitting it, you'll join a competitive pool. The club's selection committee will review all applications and choose the best candidates based on qualifications and club needs.

How can joining the club benefit me as a student?

Being a member of a CPG club offers students a wealth of opportunities to step outside of their comfort zone, try new things, and refine their life skills. These experiences can not only contribute to their personal development but also provide a solid foundation for academic success and future professional endeavors.

Do I need to be a petroleum engineering or geosciences major to join?

The club membership is inclusive and reflects the broad range of majors offered at the university.

What kind of events does the club organize?

The club organizes social events, competitions, and company visits. These activities provide opportunities for networking, skill-building, and professional development.

How can I stay informed about club activities and events?

To stay informed, check your email regularly for updates and follow the club's social media platforms for announcements.

Do I need to attend all of the club's activities?

You don't need to attend all of the activities.

What is the relationship between students' participation in clubs and their overall academic success?

Joining a club can be a great way to learn new skills, challenge yourself, and reduce stress. Many students have found that participating in clubs can even improve their academic performance by providing a positive outlet and helping them focus.
